Mrs. Bessie Campbell, mother of the fallen soldiers.

Mrs. Bessie Campbell, the mother of the fallen soldiers, is shown in the photograph. She is a woman of middle age, with dark hair, wearing a light-colored dress with a high collar and a striped tie. She is looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. The photograph is framed by a decorative border.

A group of soldiers standing next to a large wheeled cart or machine, likely a transport vehicle used during the war.
